

A unique opportunity to buy a famous Grenadier print and contribute to The Colonel's Fund

Once a Grenadier, Always a Grenadier

The Regimental Lieutenant-Colonel has kindly consented to the release of a limited edition of an exceptional Orlando Norie watercolour belonging to the Regimental picture collection. Orlando Norie (1832 -1901) is considered to have been one of the foremost illustrators of the British army in the 19th century. His pictures are highly sought after in both public and private collections and command high prices.

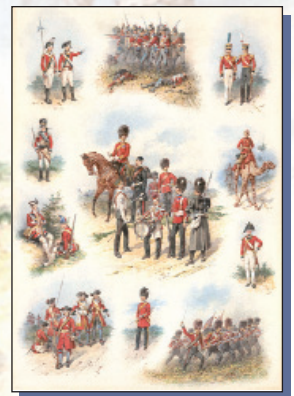

This edition of "Eleven groups of Grenadiers 1680-1856" painted in 1891 is limited to a run of 500 prints only. Each print, reproduced on superb 310 gsm William Turner art paper, will be produced to the exacting standards of The Fine Art Trade Guild and then endorsed by Regimental Headquarters as a true likeness of the original.

All profits from the sale of this unique print edition will go to The Colonel's Fund, which has been established to support those Grenadiers and their families who have suffered as a result of recent combat operations.
